

A Commencement like no other

Oswald was on hand to pass out yard signs to Clark College graduates.

Like all Clark College students, the Class of 2020 experienced plenty of challenges—academic, economic, and personal—along their educational journeys. But on top of the typical hurdles, they also faced something unprecedented in the college's history: In March, they learned that their classes would be held completely online, as the COVID-19 outbreak forced the college to move into remote operations.

This Thursday, Clark College's 84th graduating class will experience another "first," as it is honored in the college's first-ever virtual ceremony.

At 6:30 p.m. on June 18, guests and graduates can visit www.clark.edu/grad2020 to view a video of ceremonial remarks, a congratulatory message from staff and faculty, and customized slides of each participating graduate. These slides feature each graduate's name as well as an optional photo and personal message.

The virtual ceremony will remain on the college's website through the end of June, for those who want to watch it at a different time.

Last week, graduates also had the option to pick up free yard signs from the Bookstore through a socially distanced drive-through.

"We are all so proud of our students who have persevered," wrote Clark College Interim President Sandra Fowler-Hill in an email to college employees. "Join me in congratulating the Class of 2020."
