

Art Student Annual 2024

Archer Gallery was packed, animated, and noisy as dozens of student artists stood in front of their creations and talked to art appreciators about their work. The opening reception and awards ceremony for the Art Student Annual exhibition of Clark College art students drew students, faculty, staff, family members and the community on June 4.

This annual juried exhibit features Clark College art students' work created in the past year chosen by their Clark College art professors. The strength and breadth of this artwork reflect the hard work, dedication, and unique voices of Clark students.

"This year's exhibit received 100 more submissions and features almost twice the pieces compared to last year's exhibit," said Archer Gallery Director Kendra Larson. Students created their work in the past year. Their art professors curated the work.

Grant Hottle, art professor and head of the art department, said, "I'm absolutely stunned by the level of craft, emotion, passion, and sheer creativity on display this year. We have a superb group of student artists who are producing work at an exceptional level and their hard work and energy is palpable in Archer Gallery."

"Clark art students contributed some stunning artwork to this year's exhibit," said Larson, "The creativity and craftsmanship was top notch. The opening reception was a great way to celebrate all their hard work this year."

Esmirna Zeledon was awarded Best in Show for her oil painting titled Goddess Study.

Oliver Romero was awarded Best Photograph.
